Raising Up an Altar of Compassion

I am raising up an altar of compassion in My army of intercessors, for many have come to the place of laying their lives down by My grace. They have allowed Me to work My heart of compassion in them so that My heart's passion and purity can be released to bring the captives out of their grave clothes and into the garments of My light. My hungers and My desires for this fruit to be born in their lives is being satisfied.

There are those who have stood in the gap for this day to come and it is a sweet day that all will see. This army of love, light, and Holy Spirit power will also usher in the next wave of intercessors that are being molded and conformed into this place of My heart's compassion.

Many will be needed and on call and on duty for the revival that's being ushered in, but the first wave has joined forces across this land, and yes, across this world to become as one in the work of My Spirit in extending My love, My blood of the everlasting covenant and My authority to those who walk in darkness and in forms of darkness. It is a new day in My Church.

Heed My instructions as they come, for obedience is always better than sacrifice. A simple, yielded heart is all that is required for this army of anointing and love. This day of unity has been a work of My Spirit that has been forming in My plan for many years. It is the work of My Spirit in the work of the Potter.

Let the worship of the Lord and King rise from your hearts. Let the embrace of the Father be the much sought after place. Let the companionship and complete fellowship of the Holy Spirit be your daily bread.

There is nothing more satisfying to this Father's heart than children who have yielded their hearts and lives to Me. My heart is happy and I am rejoicing in each one. You are My love.
