Wake Up to Who You Really Are

“Wake up” is the call to live in the spirit. It is the call to wake up to the realm you are called to live in, which is the realm of the spirit within you. It is the call to wake up to who you really are and to live fully in Me.

You are called to live by that nature within you and not by the mind of the intellect and the senses of the flesh. Although these are a part of your natural life, you are called to wake up to the spirit that is within you and the light that is My life within you.

The spirit within you is life, and it is the life you are called to live by. What difference is there between those who have My spirit but live not by it and those who have not My spirit? There is often no marked difference between the two because they are both living out of the intellect, their own reasonings and the sense or carnal realm.

It is time to wake up to the life within, which is My image in you. My image has a way that is life, yet many, many who are made in My image know little of the way of the spirit. I am calling out to those who will hear Me: “Wake up to My life in you—in all things.”

Wake up to the truth of My image in you. Wake up to the transforming process that you have yet to walk in so that you may live in My fullness. Wake up to the mind of Christ that is yours to live in and be renewed out of the intellect and into only the mind of the spirit, which is one with My mind. Wake up to the peace that is solid and to the joy of unseen things, for your spirit is one of faith. There is a wake up call to the nature you have been given, which is in the same image of the One who is Love. This life of love within you is easily moved by compassion and is merciful and full of good fruit.

Wake up to the fellowship of My Spirit within your spirit. There is much more to walk in—a fellowship that is as natural as breathing the air you breathe. It is a fellowship your spirit was made for and thrives on.

Wake up to My Word and the reality of it. In this reality is the picture of who you now are in Me. Wake up to what? Wake up to My life in you. Wake up to your life which is now in Me. Wake up to the reality of truth—My Word is truth. Wake up to the fellowship of the Spirit and the dimension of “all possibilities” that has been given to you through My Spirit, who is with you. Wake up to the ways of My nature and the mind of Christ that has been given to you. Wake up and be transformed; be changed.

Wake up—be alert and aware of My Presence with you and in you. Wake up—be alert and aware of the reality of what My Word says about our relationship. Wake up—be alert and aware of the image of My Son and see yourself as a co-heir of the nature of the First Born. The fullness of this nature, His image, has been given to those who are Mine.

Wake up—be alert, be aware of the truths of My Word about you and all you are now able to do through My nature and My Spirit with you. Be alert, be aware—you have My authority and you have My Spirit who is with you.

So I say, “Wake up,” because My Body has dreamed of walking in My fullness, but they have not awakened to the reality of it. They have slept through these truths that My Body is My fullness in this earth. Who the Son is in the image of the Father is the image I have given to My sons as joint heirs with Him—My fullness in Him, His fullness in you. Wake up—this reality awaits you.
