Now Is the Season of Worship

Paths or places in Me are being stepped into that many have cried out for, and paths are being entered that many have been called to but have not yet walked in. It is a season of worship and a season of paths being stepped into.

Some of these paths have to do with parts of calls and vocations that have been known or sensed, but outside of Me, there has been no ability to walk in them. It has been necessary to wait with Me as I have done My work of preparation within each one. Now these things are being opened up.

For many, calls and vocations are being entered into by the locomotion of desires. The certainty of calls and vocations are beginning to be recognized, and in this, desires are being awakened to walk in these things.

The waiting and the preparation have come to the season of birthing, and now these things are being set in motion.

Within this season that is emerging is the cocoon of worship. All of these things spoken of are a necessary part to the outpouring you are preparing for. Worship is a necessary ingredient to bring forth the things within you that you know as revival: your walk in Me and your walk with Me—the walk of the spirit. And worship is a necessary ingredient to the sustaining of these things.

Just as My Son was called away to My Presence, so are you. Many have not understood the abiding in this secret place with Me that sustained Him. This ingredient of worship is an ingredient in your walk by which My wisdom often enters in and instruction is easily brought forth. As My worship becomes quite pronounced in this season, many questions shall be answered that have been placed in My hands. Much wisdom shall be available as you enter into this holy and sweet place with Me.

It will be a time of hearts being opened to Me in areas I have not yet been invited into. It will be a time of deeper surrender and deeper healings. It will be a treasured time when many things are released. Don't expect to walk through this time without resistance, but do expect My Presence and do expect My victory, for I am with you and My Word is your truth. You will be sustained in all things in this place of worship with Me.

I have been preparing hearts and stirring up desires, for hearts have been pursuing Me. This worship will bring forth things within that are from Me, and plans that have been carried within many will be brought forth as a birthing in Me. I want to bring things out of your new nature by the process of you opening yourself to Me through worship. In this place where you are opening your heart to Me and offering all that you are to Me, I am able to come with My heart, My compassions, and My desires and fill you. I am able to come with the wisdom of My ways and instruct you with the understanding of who I am and who you are so that you will emerge from this season changed into more of My image.

As you offer up more of who you are in the place of worship, I am able to give to you more of who I am. The result will be more of Me and less of you, and you will walk in a greater strength out of your new man.

There is a deep strength and peace that comes from this place of worship. As you pour forth your love for Me out of your new man, I am able to come and inhabit those places in your life I have not yet been given entrance to. I desire all of you just as you desire all of Me, and worship opens your heart, allowing Me to enter in with My love, My peace, My strength, and My healing. Enter into this place of worship and sweet communion with Me, knowing that all are received—all are received.

This will be a season of worship when many will find themselves in new places with Me that their hearts have desired but have not yet attained to. Now is the season of worship that you have allowed Me to bring you into. Now is the season of My love for you and your love for Me. Let your heart be open with Me. Let your soul engage itself in worshiping Me, and envision the One who invites you in with arms opened wide for you. Envision the One who loves you and gave the Son He loved—for you. Envision the One who says every moment of every day: You are loved.

You are loved. The door of My heart is always open. Enter in.
