Know and Understand the Moving of the Spirit

He loves it when He is free to move through the power of His Holy Spirit, and He loves it when people are appreciative and respect the movings of the Spirit—we're not talking in the area of children—and that's what He said.

We're not talking in the areas of a child crying or something like this. A lot of people can't minister during a time like that because it upsets them or sets them off. We're not talking about that kind of lack of respect; [we're talking about] the difference between people who are indifferent to it [the movings of the Spirit] and people who yield themselves over and get involved in it and what He is doing.

For in involving yourselves, you'll become accustomed to another level of His moving, and this is necessary, for in the days to come, there will be a need, He said—a real ministry, a real need, for people who know and understand the moving of the Spirit as He increases in power and operation daily in that direction.

So something is coming. I saw the city. I just saw the city and an overshadowing of it with the glory of God. And it was so strong that things were happening in so many places and so fast that people were just looking for places and people that could tell them and teach them [as they question:] “What's happening? What's happening? What's happening?”—and [with] no small amazement—“What's happening? What's happening?”

For darkness is on the increase. Have I not said in times past the things that would come? For darkness is also on the increase, but so is My light. So rise up and be strong, for there will be My strongholds that I will put in places [so] that I will take root, and My light will be manifest in that place instead of their darkness.

And, oh, on the world's scene, all of these forces will be heading towards each other, and My plan is to prevail, says the Lord, and take a great, great harvest out of the adversity in these last days.
