The Door to “More” Is Held Open

Will you put aside your life for Me in a greater measure? Will you put aside the little pleasures of the soul that distract you from your forward progress in Me?

Many of you have surged forward into new places in Me, but there is more. I am leading you, as swiftly as you will allow Me, into more new places in Me. These places in Me are new to you but not to Me. They are your inheritance in Me, and these places are attained through deeper levels of understandings in Me.

I want more of you so that I can fill you with more of Me. Many have come to a new place in Me and are beginning to tap into the understanding of it. Yet even as you “look around” this new level of relationship with Me and its peace, I am holding open the door to more—more of you in Me and more of Me in you.

Don't stop! I say to you, even before you have begun to explore this new place with Me, don't pause; don't rest. Stay in the press to reach into more of who you are in Me and who I am in you.

It has been said time and time again how pleased I am with each of you, and even as I say this, by My Spirit I draw you into more of Me, which means less of you. There are things I am moving each of you into and many of these things have yet to be revealed. The course you are on is to keep your eyes absolutely fixed on Me, to keep your heart fastened to My Word, and your affections tied to heavenly things and not earthly needs. This course has not changed.

As your path seems to be unfolding swiftly before you, you must, you MUST keep yourselves, above all else, fastened to Me, for I alone see the table I am setting before you so that you may serve a banquet in Me.

There will be many who will fault the course you have laid hold of in Me, but I have set the path before you, and you are only accountable to Me. Continue on in Me. The urgency you sense is from Me, for I see what you have yet to see.

The door to “More” is held open. Come into more of the understanding of Me. Come into more of the inheritance that has been given to you in Me. Come into My love. Come, come and see more of Me.
