My Earnest Desire Is to Heal You

Editor's Note: The following was before a prayer line for children. Because Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever [Hebrews 13:8], the following promise is still available.

This is close to My heart as I know that it is close to your heart. See; see what I will do, says the Lord. See what I will do. Don't you know that if you doubt not in your heart that you will have what you are believing for? For to whom is it hard to doubt My willingness to heal children? Therefore, lift up your hearts, lift up your faith and believe Me.

Comments – I don't know, I don't know if there are babies in the hospital—if you are believing in a general respect for them. I saw a crowd that looked like five or six and under, but it's okay, you know—we will take a teenager anytime.

When you have that helpless feeling and you look up toward Me—any child can give those who love them a helpless feeling when they are in pain. Imagine, says the Lord, when you look up to Me as a child, My earnest desire is to heal you.
