A Time of Refreshing Is Upon You

A time of refreshing is upon you. Those of you who have labored when others wouldn't, and those of you who kept persevering when others fell away, and those of you who counted the prize as more valuable than your life, this very week, this coming conference, I am going to use you like I have not used you before. There will be opportunities for you to give from the abundance I have stored within you, but know this: You will not be diminished. In fact, this shall be a time of refreshing and a time of strength, whereas at the end of this conference you will be going, "How did I get stronger? Why am I not tired?"

It is because it is My refreshing. You are going to receive more than you give, says the Lord.
