Let Me Administer This Joy to You

[In reference to the] part of the love of God that manifests itself in joy: The more of the love of God that you walk in and the freer you get, no matter what the circumstances say, the more of My joy that will manifest and that you will walk in. And do not misjudge this, for the freedom you receive inside, in your walk, is generally the freedom I can manifest outside of you in your walk.

So go from where you are to where I am, says the Lord, and let Me administer this joy to you.
