

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

PT100321 – Mar 21, 2010
The Strength to See More of Me

Father to son, son to Father—you are being taken into the very reality of this place in your inheritance and the depths of fellowship that are in this place. Because of where you have come in your journey, the Spirit of Grace is now able to help your eyes to see the riches of the glory of your inheritance that are in Me. In this place, we will commune Father to son, son to Father—face to face. It is here that you will see the Father's heart in a way that will bring great, great liberty.

As we commune face to face, you will see what I have been preparing your hearts to see, and that is the dimensions of My Fatherhood and My family. This is the hour you have entered into, for you have allowed Me, by My Spirit, to bring you along, line upon line and precept upon precept, into the knowledge of Me. Great riches await you in Me.

It is in this time that you are entering into that you will walk by My grace into the strength to see more of Me. You will find your hearts longing for Me and only Me—not just because of the treasures of My love that await you, but because of the longing in your heart to lavish your love on Me. This is the strength now available in Me.

Don't be surprised when all you want is time with Me. Don't be surprised when My Spirit calls you aside for seasons of love with Me. There is a group who has followed Me to this place in Me, and great will be the size of the steps that are taken into the new things you will see. All may come. All may come.

In these seasons of My love, I will be able to immerse you—spirit, soul and body—in Me, and great, great, great will be the change as your heart sees more of Me. It is a time you have come to in your walk with Me in which the dimensions of My love will be seen, and you will be immersed in My Fatherhood. Great, great, great will be your understanding and your peace as you are seated in My love for you and your love for Me.

Don't be surprised when everything pales in comparison to Me. Don't be surprised when all you want is Me. Don't be surprised when rivers of love pour out of you for Me. Don't be surprised at these things, for this is the strength that I bring. Be expectant of entering into seasons of love with Me. Great are the riches of Love that you will see. Great are the treasures that abound in Me that you will see and lay hold of in Me. This time you have come to brings great joy to Me, for we are close, closer than you think, to walking in a new place in Me.