

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

This Is Fatherhood to Me

This week has been a joy to you, but a greater joy to Me, for it has been a week of Fathering to Me, and I could not be more pleased.

I hear the concerns in some hearts: “Oh, Lord, did I get enough? Did I get all you had for me? Am I going home with what I need?”

Don't be concerned, for I see what you cannot see, and I see a strengthening that has taken place this week. I see healings you have received, and I see a new quietness and a new peace. If you don't yet see the fullness like I see, be at peace; be at peace. For you will walk in what you cannot yet see, for I have been able to reach into places in each one and I have brought My touch, My love, My miracles, like only I can bring.

I am well pleased, for each one who has come has received much more of Me, and I have been able to do many things you cannot yet see, but you will see as you continue on your path in Me.

This has been a week of healing; this has been a week of “seeing” Me and understanding. This has been a week of changing and releasing. This has been a week like I intended, and I could not be more pleased. My teachers have allowed the Teacher to teach. My vessels have allowed the Healer to heal. My ministers have allowed the Deliverer to deliver. It has been a week of more of Me in each of you and I am pleased, for My life in you has increased.

This week My Fatherhood to you has increased, and in this, I am most pleased. My arms have embraced you, My heart has loved you, My wisdom has filled you, and My love has united you. This is Fatherhood to Me. This is Me being Father to My family. In this I am most pleased. Take everything you have received and receive more and more from Me. You are closer to the deep places in Me than you can see. Continue to receive from Me. This is joy to Me. This is Fatherhood to Me. I am most pleased.
