My Love—My Heart Is for the Lost

It is My desire to bring you to the place of love where your understanding is affected in those areas that were proclaimed in history, things that were hard to understand, for many of these things were not given cadence to—the things that had to do with My love and how far you could actually come into this place. For you will find, because My heart is for the lost, that many, many times I empowered with giftings, and many times suffered casualties and loss, but many, many people were saved. But this was never My will. It was never My will to see those destroyed who walked with Me. It is My will, as you make your journey into everything I have for you, that you will find out that I am more than enough. I am more than enough.

For some of the most fearful times for the enemy was when the Church would get dangerously close to that love that would establish these things, and immediately he would come up with the deceptions and the counterfeits. But hang on, hang on. Hear what the Spirit would say. For He is extremely delighted that you are allowing, that you are waking up to the Teacher, the Tutor, that you are waking up to who He is, what He can do inside of you, where He can bring you and what He is. For it is these understandings and these keys that have taken us this far, but be of good cheer, for we are not stopping here. We are moving on in.
