Love Never Fails and There Is No Fear in Love

When you take a step forward, as you have taken a step and you begin to nurture yourself with My love, then I get to take a step closer to you, and what I am and what I have is yours. For much, much of who I am and what I am has been left out by religion, but know this: Love never fails, and there is no fear in love.

So don't think for one moment that I do not enjoy this walk with you—with you. With you, because this is a step taken. This is a step that has been taken that brings you closer to Him and Him closer to you, which will do wonders for your understanding, especially in the realm of faith.
