

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

The Greatest Witness to the Truth

Know this: That the greatest witness that you have to the truth is that witness that is within you, says the Spirit of Grace. In these days of your life, whether on the path for a good while or beginning now, know that the lamp of the righteous burns brighter and brighter unto a more perfect day.

So the confirming to those of all who have been and those who are now joining through the witness in the secret place, is to you an extension of My hand as your Father, concerning the hunger of your heart. And those who have known are only increasing, and those that have come will find a path. Know this: That I have designed this path for those who are hungry and those who are thirsty—they will be filled, says the Spirit of Grace.

So in those secret corridors of your life and those things behind the scenes where no man has the answer for you, where continued discussions cannot confirm, know this: That in this hour and in these days that I call now, confirming these things to you by quiet witness of the Spirit, trust My witness of the Spirit. Joy in the confirmation of your future. Joy in the confirmation of the salvation of those whom you hold dearest, says the Spirit of Grace.

Enter in with great rejoicing to that which is called revival, but know that the revival that I desire burns first in your homes, in your lives and those closest to you. I have designed this from the beginning and I have a voice now to speak these things among many. So rejoice in these things, says the Spirit of Grace.
