

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

PT120401A – Apr 1, 2012

Only the Holy Spirit Can Be the Teacher

What I have given to you has rarely been received in its fullness by My Body since the early establishment of the Church. For much of darkness at times would drive the light back and then the light would drive it back and battles would be fought, but very seldom did many make it to this place where My hands are totally untied.

So hear what the Spirit would say: That I have looked long; I have established works; I have anointed them and I have attempted to teach them, for only the Holy Spirit can be the Teacher and the Teacher of the understandings of these things. So see to it that you are diligent, for you are on the path, and before this is over, many, many more will make the Holy Spirit their Teacher because of what they will see.

So rejoice and be exceedingly glad. I didn't plan for the Dark Ages. I don't send this [person] into Hell and choose this one. I am no respecter of persons, and anybody who can receive Me can receive Me. I did not cause those times of desolation when My Name was replaced by other names. I didn't cause them; I did not nurture them. But I can say this to you: That you are on My path and you are getting dangerously close to being dangerous and you will see things in your generation that many have not seen.

So be strong and continue in My instruction and you will see, you will see—you will have much to rejoice over in the day of the Lord.