

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

PT120212A – Feb 12, 2012

Don't Be Afraid to Come Into My Presence

I have longed and I have waited for the times that My fellowship would get as rich as it will be when you take the next part of this journey, says the Lord. Oh, you'll be free and you'll see, in the time when most people esteem [it as] trouble, you'll have great peace. So follow after Me and pursue these things I have given to you, such as edification and the revelations of the mysteries and My love—pursue these things. And give yourself over to Me. Don't be afraid to come into My Presence. Be bold. Take your stand. Use My Word and edify yourself. You are not only edifying yourself in the knowledge of My mysteries, but you are also strengthening yourself against the days that come that will accompany revival.

For there will be a period of time when things will be bad and they'll get good, then they will get bad again, then they will get good. There will be a series of time, but you will be operating in the strength of your prayer and the mysteries that you have spoken, and your services with Me and your meetings with Me—you will gather your strength there. And when the world collapses in, you will go higher and harvest greater, and it will collapse in again and you will go higher and harvest greater. So be afraid of nothing and know that you are in a time that has been prepared and made ready since the beginning of the Fall [of Adam].