

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

Things Are Happening

Yes, the enemy, on his side, will try to make a show and raise him[self] up and try to walk step-by-step and blow-for-blow. He will attempt this and he will discourage some, like he always has in the past, but he has not faced in this generation what I am about to do—he hasn't faced this in some time.

So rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for he will know what will happen after he sees what is beginning to happen not far from now. He will put up his fight, but he knows he will be defeated because nothing will stop what I am about to do once it takes hold and anchors itself and people are changed—they are changed.

And I will take advantage of media in a way that I have not been seen in some time. My revivals will be in your front room. People will run out and get their neighbors and bring them in, just to see these things happen.

So be glad and hear, for the world will rejoice. The world will rejoice, and the enemy will fight hard just before My return, but you have time to have a great part in this. So be glad and rejoice—things are happening.
