Be Strong: Many Things Are Going to Come

For I have not taught you all these years—edified, build you up—to have you sitting and doing the same thing to the day you die. I have prepared you for a place that you would be edified in Me and could do the things I called you to do no matter what they were, where they were and what they are doing.

So be strong, because many, many things are going to come, and all of it is not good, but you have known of this time. A great visitation will accompany anything the devil thinks he can do to reverse it—you will see what I can do. But be strong and move forward in Me now, for I can, through the power of the Holy Spirit, testify [of] Myself when I can find a people who will offer their whole life up. And I can work—it is hard for Me to describe [to you] the wonders that I can do when somebody is fully turned over to Me, for you will know that these could not happen to a city lest I was involved in it. And I will be, says the Lord.
