An Era When My Mysteries Will Be Understood

When one prophesies, the Church is edified, the town it is in. [When one] prays in tongues, he edifies himself, and the reason is, he begins to understand the mysteries that God has and pertaining to him and his call.

For there is much the Church does not understand—and I am talking about the Church of obedience that will follow Me—that is the fullness of the mysteries that I have yet to reveal. For you have heard all your lives, for generations, “The works I do, you will do also, and even greater than these, for I go to the Father. These signs shall follow them that believe.” You have heard these sayings, but know this: There will be an era, an era that My mysteries will be understood. And My power will be so powerful, you will see entire cities bowing their knees to what I have said and what I have done. So rejoice to see this time, for you are within range of it.
