The True Love of God—That the World May Know

I see a maturity coming—things He is able to say to us because of all of the foundation over the years. I think we are going to have some “blubbery messes” [lots of tears in prayer] as we ourselves are brought more into the love of God.

We are going to thank God for every hour of prayer, every day of fasting, every revelation we ever received because there are dangers on this path. When you start really tasting of the love of God, it is easier to understand how people can get off into false doctrine like “There just can't be a hell” or things [like that]. No, we are not going to leave what the Bible says; we are going to walk into—the world is about to see what Jesus said in John 17—the true love of God: “That the world may know,” not just the Church. It would be good if the Church knew it, but “That the world may know that You have sent Me.”
