I Expect You to Put My Shoes On

Many times, it was My desire to teach you—My anointing will come on those who are able to receive it and begin to teach the things that I have and will flow in and out of prophecy with things that are from My mind to you.

I brought the diversities of tongues as an edification gift. For you that hunger, there is no place you have to stop in building yourself up in edification and the faith that I made available for you. I have made everything within your reach, for those who truly want to give their lives to Me and bring many, many people home with you.

No matter what call you are walking in, I have given you a language to pray these things out, to walk out, that you may walk in My power and face down any disease. I said these signs would follow them that believe. I specified no one, except identifying them in ministry, but where there is sickness and the lost, I expect you to put My shoes on and walk into the middle of that, says the Lord.
