

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

PT131009A - Oct 9, 2013
Step Forward Into the Impossible

He told me that we think too small. Don't think so small, He says. What was impossible yesterday is not impossible today.

He is inviting you to step forward into the impossible. The shackles that seemed impossible that are around you, around your family, around your calling, around your physical body, around your finances, those shackles around your emotions that seem to be impossible to break—you've chipped and pulled and yanked and tried every key, and nothing seems to break them. The Lord is telling us today, He is speaking to you today: Come, step forward into the impossible and those shackles will be smashed and broken off of you.

He is not pulling us forward. He is inviting us forward. There is a faith here that says: "Quit looking at you, yourself. Look at who He made you." You won't think so small then. You won't believe so small. You won't walk so small. You won't pray so small.

Who you are is who He made you, not who your family made you, not who your past made you—who He made you.
