Trust That He Is Bringing Something for You

There is a determination in Him today to guide us along—[for us] to keep going, to not pull back, don't change course. It is not an urgency, but it is a determination. He is not just talking [about] here in Tulsa. He is talking [about] everywhere, because I see that again: I see those anointings unearned, authority unearned coming to His Body—prosperity unearned.

For those who are ready to receive, who have spent so much time preparing to receive—I am seeing all around the world, not just here—I am just telling you what I am seeing: raindrops falling, and each raindrop holds an anointing that is going to fall on someone, holds an authority for an area, holds an avenue of prosperity that is unearned.

Don't look at what you have. Trust that He is bringing something for you.
