

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

PT150517 – May 17, 2015
This Is a Season for Trust

Permit not alarms of the soul when I am not alarming in the spirit. Present order is being rearranged by My hand, and I am at work in realms that you cannot see. This is a season for trust. This is a season for worship, and this is a season of surrender.

Trust Me that I am answering those prayers that you have offered up to Me. So be not alarmed when you see change, even if that change appears to you to be not what you expected.

Trust Me in your personal life, and in the life of this family, and in the life of this body, for My Word to you shall be accomplished. It shall not return to Me void, and the world shall see that My Son is glorified.