

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

Give the Most Earnest Heed to What My Spirit Is Saying

The enemy, if he cannot drive you away with affliction and persecution, then he knows he must change his tactics and begin to allure you through the flesh to run after those things that appease and appeal to the flesh. That is why, in this season, I am emphasizing all that I have given you, and all that I have empowered you, and all that I have given you by inheritance by My Spirit to rise up as the mighty children of God that you truly are.

Put your foot on the neck of the flesh. Force it onto the cross and walk in the spirit. Great days are ahead, says the Lord. Give the most earnest heed to what My Spirit is saying in these hours, for the enemy's onslaught is about to change. The tactics are changing, but great shall be the harvest you shall see. Be encouraged but hearken to My voice as I teach you those things needful that you never fall.
