Where We Have Attained, Let Us Walk

I have great mercy. I have great mercy. Never think My mercy has come to an end for you. Where there is life, there is hope, but I am calling each of you to integrity, to walk at a level of accountability in those things which you have learned. The Apostle Paul wrote it this way: Where we have attained, let us also walk.

I am calling you to integrity. I am here. I am here. I am here to help you.

I see a picture: I see the mirror. When you look in the mirror, you expect to see God, but that's not what it says. A mirror doesn't show you somebody else, it shows you, you. That's who you are, that is Christ in you. When you look into that mirror, James calls it "the perfect law of liberty" because you've been set free.

You look in that mirror, you go, "Look how free I am." But the picture I saw is, in here we are all aware of the mirror, but when you leave, you forget, then you think you are some other person, but the Bible doesn't say you are.

No. No, He's saying, no. Don't walk away and think you are something other than what I showed you in the mirror. You are who I say you are. There is a Savior on the throne of your heart, and the Savior has come on the inside now, and I have empowered you to walk as My tree of righteousness.

Hebrews 4:15,16 For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. 16 Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need

Philippians 3:16 Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing.

James 1:23-25 For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass: 24 For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was. 25 But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.
