

The Lord's Present-Day Speaking

Death Is Not the End

I have not forgotten you. I have not left you somewhere all alone, but I am with you. I saw this day coming from eons in the past. I knew that this time would come, and I want you to understand this is not the end, but this is the beginning. This is the beginning of something that is new to you.

There is nothing new under the sun. There is nothing that I have not already started, nothing that I have not already been through, nothing that I have not already seen the outcome. But this is new to you, and I want you to understand that you are stepping into the next phase, and this is a transitional time in which it might seem awkward; it might seem uncomfortable. There may be things that you don't understand and that you don't want to happen, but I am telling you, now is a time that I am doing a work behind the scenes that no one understands and that no one can see. But I am doing these things by My Spirit because you have allowed Me to—you have given yourself over to Me.

You have poured yourself into the things of the spirit and you will see that, because of that, from the spirit you are going to reap a life that you have been dreaming of. A life that you have been expecting, that you have been confessing, that you have been seeing all these years. There is a life coming from that place of the spirit and is going to manifest in the natural.

In order for this life to come, there has been a death, and there is a death that is going on even now. By the spirit you are putting to death the things of the natural. You are putting to death the things that did not come from My Spirit, things that I did not ordain, things that you have no control over, those things are being put to death so that you can walk in newness of life. So while there is some pain, while there is some grieving, there is also a great, great joy. Weeping may endure for the night, but joy comes in the morning. And realize that your morning is coming.

Your morning is on the way. The sun is about to come over the horizon, and you will be so happy. You will be so happy that you stayed with Me. You will be so happy that you sowed into the realms of the spirit. You will be so happy, because there is coming a great day, a great reward for the things that have been sacrificed, for the things that you have planted. There is a great harvest approaching. And today there is a great work happening in the realms of the Spirit. There is a great work developing, and there is a great, great move being birthed through you. So allow Me to continue to bring the birthing through you.

Allow Me to continue to bring through you the things of the Spirit that I need and that you need in order to walk in this next level that I am bringing you to, that I am walking with you into. And you are going to see as you walk in this, you will have tools at your disposal. You will have anointings and giftings and things of the Spirit that you did not recognize in times past. And they are coming because of what you have sown in the realms of the spirit. Because of what you have poured into the spirit, now you are reaping from the spirit the things necessary to walk with the grace that I have given you for this next phase.

So do not relent. Don't let up. You know what to do. I have given you instructions. I have helped you along the way, and I have not changed My mind. So continue in what you know, continue in what you have been given, continue in what My Word says, and you will see that a great day is approaching.

Just as My servant Ezekiel looked out and saw nothing but dry bones, nothing that was useful that would work on his behalf or on My behalf, you see those things as dead, but what I want to show you is that as you prophesy to those things that have died, I will come by My Spirit and breathe upon them, and you will see that these bones that were slain shall have life in them again. And I will breathe upon them, and My Spirit will be placed within them, and there will come a great and mighty move of My Spirit. So don't allow this death to overtake you.

Don't allow this death to tell you it is the end but realize this is only but the beginning of what I am going to do through you, through this body, through this organization that I have ordained. Allow Me to make adjustments. Allow Me to put the pieces together and place within you the necessary ingredients to walk into the next level.

So don't stop. Don't allow anything in the natural to keep you from pressing in beyond where you are into the things of the Spirit and allow Me to love you, allow Me to bring My Presence and wrap My arms around you, allow My anointing to bring you that peace, that peace that passes all understanding when it seems there is nothing that is working out the way that you had planned. When it seems there is nothing that you can understand, let My peace overtake you, let My peace rest upon you.

Receive—receive from My Presence and I will take you where you have so desired to go. You will see a great manifestation, a great, great love that goes beyond what you have received in the past. It goes beyond what you have ever understood and known. You will see that this love is truly available, accessible, and you will get a hold of it. And it will absolutely change the way you see other people, the way you see things around you, the way you receive from everything. It will change. Let My love saturate you, let My love well up within you and allow Me to love you. This is a season; this is a time when nothing else will do. My love will see you through—My love

As you receive from My love, you will have the grace and the anointing, the power to walk through the fire, and on the other side, you will almost laugh at how great it is and what a small, silly thing you had to go through, because in comparison, the goodness and the glory and the overwhelming Presence cannot compare, can't compare to anything. Trust Me when I say, this is the next phase.

Ecclesiastes 1:9 The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun.

Romans 8:5 For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit.

Galatians 6:8,9 For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. 9 And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.
